MRS. PATTERSON ESTABLISHING HER RIGHTS AS WIDOW OF JEROME BONAPARTE-AMERICAN WIVES

After nearly half a century of quiet resignation to what seemed to be the decrees of fate, the first wife of Jerome Bonaparte is about to emerge from her retirement, and, in the French courts of law, contest her claims to be considered his legitimate wife, tand to secure for her self and son their part of the personal property left by the recently deceased prince. The history of Madame Bonaparte (formerly Miss Partices any of the rights which being exclusively terson) is too well known to our readers to need recapitulation here, and we will only nowimake recapitulation here, and that consequently M.

The case will come before the Tribunal of the First Instance at Paris, on the 25th of the presedt month, with M. Berryer and M. Legrand as counsel for Madame Bonaparte. They have drawn up a printed memoir of the facts, commencing with a recapitulation of the life of Jerome Bonaparte, and a history of his acquaintance and marriage with Miss Patterson. The marriage certificate reads as follows:

"BALTIMORE, December 24, 1803.

+ J., BISHOP OF BALTIMORE." This certificate was varified by the French Vice Consul, Henry Vernet. The subsequent efforts of the Emperor Nacoleon, to break up the marriage are then re-our readers are familiar. Napol con wrote to erome in May, 1805:

"Your union with Miss Patterson, is null in the eyes of religion and the law. Write to Miss Patterson to return to America. I shall give her a pension of 60,000f. on condition that in no case shall she bear my name, to which she has no right, by reason of the non-existence of the union. Inform her, of yourself, that you have not been able, and that you cannot, change the nature of things."

At the same time the Emperor addressed a letter to his other brother, Lucien (afterwards Prince of Canino), who, in his opinion, had formed a mesalliance by wedding Madame louberton. Lucieu, more manly and honorable than Jerome, boldly replied: LUCIEN REBUKES NAPOLEON.

Jerome, when King of Westphalia, offered his iffret wife a residence and revenue, with the title of Princess of Smalcalden, if she would come to Germany; but this offer was refused, and Madame Bonaparte obtained a divorce in the State of Maryland. In 1819 she visited Euthe State of Maryland. In 1818 she visited Edi-rope, and her son, the young Jerome, was re-ceived with every attention by his Bonaparte re-latives in France and Italy.

The counsel in the coming case have embo-died in their memoir a large number of letters, intended to prove that the Bonaparts recognized young Jerome as one of their family. The fol-

THE YOUNGER JEROME TO LOUIS NAPOLEON. When Prince Louis Napoleon went to America after the "affair" of Strasburg, M. Jerome Bonaparte offered him his house as a residence. The Prince (the present Emperor) replied:

NAPOLEON LOUIS BONAPARTE. TEMPEROR TO JEROME. On the 1st of January, 1853, M. Bonaparte congratulated his cousin on his becoming Emperor, "on the foundation of his success—namely the will of the people as expressed by universal enferage." The Emperor replied:

But on the 13th of June, 1856, a letter of permission to wear the decoration of Medjidie of Turkey was addressed to M. Bonaparte Junior, as 'M. Bonaparte Patterson.' This permission, granted to him under a name which was not his proper designation, was not accepted. At the same time the proposition of the Duchy of Sartene was renewed to M. Bonaparte, the father. Under these circumstances the latter addressed the following letter to the Emperor, dated July 25, 1856:

"Sire: I received the enclosed from my son a few days ago. I kept it to reflect on its contents before I should send it to your Mejesty.— It breathes the sentiments of honor in which my son was brought up, and I pray your majesty to grant his request. It is no real dishonor to be born a bastard, and in accepting the consequencee. Had I been in that category, I should have long since accepted, with gratitude, the offers which your Majesty condescended to make me. But as I was legitimately born—and as I have always been acknowledged as such by my family, by the laws of the countries, and by the whole world, it would be the extreme of baseness and dishonor on my part to accept a brevet of bastardy. I did not raise the question, nei-ther do I fear it. Pope Pius, VII. as is well known, refused to paomulgate a bill declaring Jerome's marriage null and void, and had the Prince possessed even an ordinary degree of maniliness, his wife would not now have been obliged to contest her elaims in court. But Jerome fell in with the ambitious schemes of his brother, and, in hopes of wedding a Wurtemburg princess, forsook his American wife.

On the 1st of June, 1806, the Archbishop of Paris isaued a decree which the memoir terms "a melancholy monument of the vices engendered without appearing impertinent, he is still more without appearing impertinent, he is still more assonished to learn that he has partaken of a sumptious meal prepared from materials that in his own home would have been thrown to the dog. The same care and economy may be observed in all farm operations. Everything that can be used for food is husbanded with the greatest care, so that nothing may be lost; and after storing, it is used in the way to accomplish the best results. Cutting and cooking, and adaptation to the condition of animals, are matters of constant attention. To observe the anxiety with which the farmer watches the increase of best results. Cutting and cooking, and adapt-ation to the condition of animals, are matters of constant attention. To observe the anxiety with which the farmer watches the increase of his manure pile, and the pains taken for its in-crease, one would suppose that he imagined it to be a heap of gold, instead of manure.

Every season, in this country, we waste a large amount of food which would, if properly cared for, make valuable meat, and no less vallarge amount of food which would, if properly cared for, make valuable meat, and no less valuable manure. To day we heard a farmer of Niagara county remark, that he had eleven acres of pumpkins and several hundred bushels of turnips, not one half of which would be gathered, besides a good many carrots, hardly worth the digging. If carried to market they would not briog enough to pay for cost of gathering and carrying. It was this remark that caused the above reflections upon the State of things in Europe, so far different.

The present season has been unusually productive, and many farmers find themselves with a larger amount of food than usual, but it soems to us that some means can be devised for turning the surplus to good account. As a general rule no man can be called a good farmer who

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the time-ly expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, ontain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla. or any thing else.

During late years the public have been mis-led by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatev-er. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend

DR. KEYSER IS PREPARED AT ANY TIME TO EXAMINE LUNGS WITHOUT CHARGE, FOR ALL THOSE WHO NEED HIS MEDICINES. ATTEND TO YOUR COLDS -A case of five years tanding cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11, 1860. DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a had cough and difficulty of breathing, for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case, I procurred some of your Pectoral Cough Syrap. I bought, the first time, a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, smal she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this If you desire to do so.

Alderman Fifth Ward.

PITTSBURGH, NOV. 18, 1838.

Dr. KEYSER:—Although not an advocate of Patent Medicines, in general, it affords me pleasure indescribe ble to recommend your Pectoral Syrup. As a medicine it is well worthy the attention of any person who may in any manner be afflicted with coughs, colds and hourseness of any hind, and for the peculiar qualifications for removing all that disagreeable sensation attending a severe cold.

I have been, more or less, in my life, affected with the sewerest of colds and hourseness. At times my throat would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above a whisper, and by taking a few doses of the above Syrup it would relieve me entirely.

In recommending this medicine, I must unhesitatingly say that it is the best remedy I over found, purporting to care the above, nor should any family be without this remedy for diseases so prevalent.

Yours, most respectfully,

EDWARD J. JONES,

Cashier Citizens' Deposit Bank.

STRUBERVILLE, C., March 14, 1859
I have used Dr. Keyser's Cough Syrup for a had cough of several years standing, and can cheerfully say it is the best medicine for the same that I have ever taken.
J. W. PRIOR. COL. PRATT AND DR. KEYBER'S PECTORAL SYBUP.—Dr. KIYERE—Dear Sir. Excuse the delay of my asknowledging the excellence of your Feotoral Gough Syrup sconer. I take great pleasure in saying that it is all you my itis. It knocked the scole out of my cough and the worst one I was ever afflicted with I have not used more than one-half of the bottle, and I can and do wish that all who are afflicted would give it as fair a trial as I have done, and they will be proud to may, "It is no quack medicine." I would not auffer another such an attack for any consideration, or at any cost. I sm confident I can breather more freely than I ever did. I shall always acknowledge a debt of gratitude for inventing so excellent a semedy. You are at liberty to use my name in this regard, as you think proper E. F. PRATT.

READ THE TRUTH.—DR. KEYSER: I have a daughter who has taken several medicines for a bad cough, without benefit—among them Ayer's Cherry Fectoral. I purchased from you a bottle of your PECTOMAL SYRUF, and before she had used half a bottle she was relieved. The second bottle cured her entirely of her cough.

Robinson street, Alleghany. A GREAT CURE BY DR. KEYSER'S PROTORAL

A GREAT CURE BY DR, KEYSER'S PROTORAL SYRUP.—I live in Peebles township, Alieshemy county. I had a coughing and spitting, which commenced about the 4th of February last, and continued eight months. I employed the best physicians in the country, and my cough continued unabated until early in October. At that time I was advised to try your PECTORAL GOUGH SYRUP, which I did, and after I had taken one bestile I was entirely free from the coughing and spitting. I had despaired of ever getting well, and I think it should be known that this valuable remedy will do for others what it has done in my case.

JOHN C. LPTTLE,

Pearton Tr., April 14, 1257.

A WONDERFUL CURE,—Some time upo, an old neighbor of mine was very ill, with a bad cough which every one supposed to be consumption. His relatives told me that he bad taken every remedy they heard of without benefit; his brother came to see him die, and all were confirmed in the belief that he could not live. I had about the third of a bottle of your Pectoral flyrap, which I gave him, and it entirely cured him, to the astonishment of all. What makes the case more remarkable, is the extreme age of the man, he being aboutsighty years old. I have no doubt the Pectoral saved his life.

JOHMY GINNIS. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP IN BLATES-

DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP IN BLAIRS-VILLE.—Please send me another supply of your rain-able "Pectoral Syrup." Almost everybody around us has the cold and are inquiring for "Dr. Keyser's Pesterni Syrup." We have sold sixteen bottles last week, and are now entirely out. Mr. A. Alter and Mr. P. Maher, both of Blairsville, Pa, tell us they would not be without it in their families. In fact, all who use it once want it again. Yours, respectfully, J. S. WATTERSON & SONS January 30, 1860.

ANOTHER NEW CERTIFICATE—DR. REYRER'S
PECTORAL SYRUP.—I had been troubled with a cough and cold for several weeks—so bad was it that I could not sleep. I had the advice and prescriptions from three of the best physicians in the city, whom I could name, but do not do so. I finally precered a bettle of year Pentoral Syrup, which oured me entirely. Signed.

236 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 9, 1860. "BTOP THATCOUGHING."—How can I do it! "Go to Keyser's on Wood street and got a bettle of his Gough Pectoral, and if that don't cure you, your case must be desperate indeed." This is a specimen of the oelloquy one hears almost every day in cold catching pariods of the year. And we can, from sotual experiment, cheerfully concur in the adviser's admention an abset, for we have tried the "Pectoral," in a most stubborn case, with entire auccess. Near two weeks ago we went to Fittsburgh, with one of the most distressing, contrary, multish, unsubdanble coughs we ever experienced alone our advent upon this mundane uphers. We coughed standily and laboriously for one whole week, in hopes of diving it out, but it was no go. In fact it seemed raiber to have improved by practice, and to have acquired strongth, potency and distressibility by the operation. In this stage of the steep, we can find our way to Keysur's 150 Wood St.—procursed a fifty cent bottle of the "Pectoral;" took it according to directions, and in forty eight beture we were master of the field, the enemy having mecanditionally surrendered, after a brief but unequal conflict with a fermildable an adversary as Keyser's famous. "Cough Pectoral."—Drosenseille Chipper, Dec. 14, 1859.
